REVOLUTIONS THREATEN NANKING REGIME

FOREIGN NATIONS ARE PROTECTING THEIR CITIZENS

FRENCH CONCESSION AT SHANGHAI, CHINA, ERECT BARBWIRE BARRICADES

BRITISH REINFORCE 3 WARSHIPS, 100 AMERICAN WOMEN AND CHILDREN LEAVE

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Dec. 10—Precautionary moves by foreign governments to protect their citizens and extensive troop movements belied today the claims of General Chiang Kai-Shek that the Nationalist government was in complete control of the series of revolutions which are threatening the Nanking central government of China.

French concession authorities today began the erection of barbed wire barricades at the entrances to Chinese territory. The measure was announced as only precautionary for the protection of French citizens.

The British aircraft carrier Hermes was enroute to Shanghai from Hong Kong bearing 560 British troops to reinforce the three warships already here.

The situation which yesterday appeared serious with the arrival of several British and Americans fleeing from Nanking appeared to have eased considerably today.

Two divisions of Nationalist troops have entered Nanking to assist in the preservation of order there, especially in the resumption of service on the Shanghai-Nanking rail line which twice has been interrupted by removal of the tracks by rebels.

It was estimated that 100 American women and children had evacuated Nanking on various steamships together with some British subjects. Many of the Americans were missionaries. The city was quiet.

Canton, China, Dec. 10—(UP)—Severe fighting was reported today as the rebel Kwangsi and "Ironsides" troops attempted to throw back forces defending Canton.

The National government troops were said to have opened an engagement with the rebels along the East and West rivers.

INSTITUTE DAILY HEALTH CHECKUP

New Plan of Inspection in Cleanliness for School Children Considered

A daily health inspection which has been tried out and found to work satisfactory in one school in the county is being considered by other schools, Miss Caroline Walz, county nurse, writes in her report for November.

The plan as tried out requires the following steps: Each pupil makes a booklet. This is fastened carefully to his or her desk. The morning inspection consists of a careful check on the care and cleanliness of teeth, hands, nails, skin and clothes. If all requirements hve been met the child receives a red star. Four red stars earn a gold star.

The enrollment in the school where the plan has been adopted is 25 pupils. Nearly every child has had a perfect record for the past three months.

Miss Walz continues to say in her report that in most schools very gratifying results have been obtained in regard to health and sanitation.

Schools

Twenty-two schools were inspected.

Three hundred twenty-seven pupils were given individual inspection.

THREATENED MINERS' WAR MAY BREAK OUT

THREATS OF STRIKERS TO SUPPORT THEIR STRIKE WITH BLOODSHED

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 10—(UP)—Guns of 600 National guardsmen were ready to blaze today should a threatened miners' war break out between 1,000 strikers and other thousands still at work.

Four companies, including infantry, cavalry and machine gun units took charge of the town and nearby coal districts at dawn. They were ordered mobilized by Adjutant General C. E. Black at Springfield last night after he had conferred by telephone with Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling.

Threats of the strikers, members of the National Miners's Union which was formed by malcontents in the United Mine Workers of America, to support their strike with bloodshed caused Sheriff D. L. Bunbar to ask for troops.

Violence was narrowly averted yesterday when a mob of 400, armed with butcher knives, shotguns and rifles, and clubs, gathered at Peabody Mine No. 58, the largest in the district, and turned miners away from the gates as they came to work.

Women thumped dishpans and shouted:

"Join the strike down with the United Mine Workers."

Mine officials smuggled 24 men into the mine to man the pumps but none of the 300 regular miners dared push through.

Later the mob shouted threats at 200 miners working at Mine No. 9 at Langlyeville. The men were held inside two hours after the shift was over until Sheriff Dunbar arrived. Howls greeted his order to disperse.

Fifty merchants and townsmen were sworn in and armed at once. They led the beleagured miners through the mob.

The influx of 300 more miners into the ranks of the strikers last night brought the total to 1,000 and increased apprehension of the sheriff and his men.

Demonstrations at Peabody Mines No. 7 and No. 8 were planned by the leaders of the striking miners.

Officials of the Illinois Miners' Union warned members that by joining the strikers they might "turn this into another Gastonia tragedy." Bulletins were issued to all members of the parent union.

The Illinois Miners's Union officials charged that two groups of communists who supported strikers of Tennessee textile workers and Gastonia, N. C. mill workers which resulted in industrial war, are supporting the present strike.

The National Miners' Union demanded a six hour day, a five day week, a minimum weekly wage of $35, abolition of the checkoff system and equal rights for Negro miners.

Buckner, Ill., Dec. 10—(UP)—A crowd of 50 National Union Miners was dispersed by Sheriff James Prichard today at the entrance to Old Ben Mine No. 14.

Reports said the Nationalists had placed pickets at the shaft and became engaged in an argument with working miners.

No arrests were made. Several of the Nationalists were said to be armed.

Washington, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—The nomination of Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., to be special ambassador to Japan for the period of the arms conference in London was announced by President Hoover today.

Upper Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota Record Foot of Snow, Serious Storm Nearing

NO IMMEDIATE RELIEF PROMISED TO WIDE AREA

GALE MAY SWEEP REST OF THE STATE AND DAKOTAS, OR VEER TO GREAT LAKES

46 BELOW ZERO IS REPORTED FROM THE MACKENZIE RIVER TERRITORY IN CANADA

Superior, Wis., Dec. 10—(UP)—Upper Wisconsin and parts of Northern Minnesota were buried beneath a foot of snow today as a high-pressure area over the Canadian northwest threatened to move southward and bring to the midwest a storm of serious proportions.

The snowfall that began here Monday noon continued unabated at midmorning today and the official weather forecast promised no immediate relief. Traffic in Superior, Duluth and outlying districts was hampered but not entirely tied up.

The United States weather bureau prediction reaching here warned the approaching snow storm might either sweep down over Minnesota and the Dakotas or veer off over the Great Lakes and bring an added burden to the already snow-blocked regions of Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

All of Northern Minnesota was covered by last night's fall, with a depth ranging from two inches to a foot reported from several sections. Slight flurries also were reported from upper North Dakota.

Fears were expressed here that both highway and railroad travel in the Head-of-the-Lakes region might be seriously obstructed if the snow continued or was piled into drifts by a wind.

Motor bus companies here and in Duluth reported their lines were either behind time or in danger of being forced to discontinue service and the trains were expected to be delayed.

A bitter breeze swept in from over Lake Superior to bring added discomfort and a threat of drifting snow if it increased in volume.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 10—(UP)—A bitter, punishing cold wave swept out of the Mackenzie river area today battering temperatures down to 46 below zero in that notorious bad weather zone.

At The Pas it was 38 below and Prince Albert suffered in temperatures 14 degrees less bitter.

It was believed the storm would pass down over a southwestern course into the United States.

One death already had resulted from the cold wave. The frozen body of Gordon Stanley, 24, was found by mounted police north of Prince Albert. The youth was hunting and apparently had been trapped by the snowstorm which accompanied the drop in temperatures.

PIERZ HAS AN $18,000 FIRE

2 PERSONS INJURED, THREATENED FOR TIME TO DESTROY WHOLE TOWN

Little Falls, Dec. 10—(UP)—Fire, which for a time threatened to destroy the nearby village of Pierz, was brought under control Monday night after two persons were injured and property was damaged to the extent of $18,000.

Flames believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace first broke out in the Peter Ranch cafe and spread quickly to the three-story Pierz hotel. Rausch, awakened by the smoke barely escaped and was seriously burned.

Twelve guests on the second floor of the hotel dashed for exits in their night clothing but Axel Wilbur, Minneapolis salesman, was trapped in his room and was carried out of an upstairs window by Little Falls firemen.

Firemen fought the blaze for two and a half hours before the fire finally was brought under control. Chief Frank Faust, slipped on the ice, while directing his men and suffered several fractured ribs.

Senator Harrison Warns Coolidge of Senate Pitfalls

Washington, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, in the senate today warned Calvin Coolidge not to be drawn into "the conspiracy" to put him in the senate. Harrison said the aim of the movement was to eliminate the former president as a possible opponent to Herbert Hoover in the presidential nomination of 1932.

ATTEMPT TO TRACE DOWN 3 WOUNDED BANDITS

SHAKOPEE TRIO FELL UNDER WITHERING HAIL OF BULLETS

BUD McNEARNERY, LITERALLY RIDDLED, IS NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

Shakopee, Minn., Dec. 10—(UP)—The law enforcement agencies of Minnesota today joined forces in attempting to trace to three wounded bandits here a dozen recent bank robberies in several mid-west states.

The three men fell under a withering hail of machine gun and revolver fire from the weapons of a county sheriff's posse, agents of the Minnesota Bankers' Association and Shakopee townspeople as they fled Monday from the First National bank with $1,500 in loot.

The State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, the Bankers' Association and county authorities cooperated today in supplying victims of other robberies with pictures and descriptions of the three captured bandits.

One of the wounded trio, William (Bud) McNearnery of St. Paul, was at death's door in Fischer hospital his body literally torn to pieces with bullets. Hospital attendants said he could not recover.

His two companions, George Larkin of St. Paul and Frank Norris of Chicago, were less seriously wounded and were recovering at Mudcura hospital.

Mc McNearney's parents spent the night at his bedside while the youth smoked cigarets, dozed in a heavy stupor or talked morosely with his broken hearted mother. He and Larkin were identified by St. Paul police shortly after their capture as Twin City police characters.

McNearney and Morris were partially identified as the two bandits who escaped with $2,000 after robbing a bank at Belle Plaine, a nearby town, last week. Their descriptions were said to tally also with those robbers who held up a bank at Ivanhoe, Minn., several months ago.

"We kept these three suspects under surveillance for several weeks past," Brown said today. "We believe they were responsible for other robberies and surely they deserve little sympathy, they only got what they were prepared to give innocent citizens and peace officers."

PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF GREECE RESIGNS

The liberty party (Venizelist) leaders will meet on Thursday to designate a successor to Coundouriotis.

Admiral Coundouriotis was the first president of the republic, which was proclaimed in 1924, after the overthrow of King George II. He was forced out for a brief period in 1925 by the dictator, General Pangalos, but returned to power in August of that year after the fall of Pangalos.

SENATE HAS FIELD DAY FOR SHARPSHOOTERS

SHOOT SHAFTS, SOME SARCASTIC, SOME BITTER AT HOOVER AND COOLIDGE

ALSO SENATOR GILLETT AND 138 COUNTRY EDITORS OF MINNESOTA

Washington, Dec. 10—(UP)—The senate sharpshooters had a field day today shooting shafts, some sarcastic, some bitter, at President Hoover, Calvin Coolidge, Joseph P. Grundy, Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, Senator Gillett of Massachusetts, and 138 country editors of Minnesota.

Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby investigating committee, filed a devastating report criticizing Grundy, the Pennsylvania tariff man, who now is reported likely to be named to the senate to take the place barred to William S. Vare. He quoted Grundy's own words admitting he had influence on high tariff legislation and pointed at Grundy's large part in obtaining funds for the Hoover presidential campaign last fall.

Reports that Calvin Coolidge might run for the senate to replace the retiring Senator Gillett, republican, Massachusetts, drew from Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, the caustic advice to Coolidge not to clear the way by such action for President Hoover to be renominated in 1932.

"I have too much respect for Coolidge to believe that he will agree to this subtle plan inaugurated by the very adroit politicians in the republican party close to Hoover," Harrison said. He also termed the reported plan a "conspiracy" to remove Coolidge as a presidential candidate.

A full page advertisement in the Washington Post, signed by 138 Minnesota editors, brought a demand from Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, for congressional investigation to see if the publishers actually paid for it. The advertisement advised the senate, on behalf of the editors' farmer readers to pass the tariff bill without trying further to slash industrial rates.

Senator Allen, republican, Kansas, one of the "Young Guard" leaders read the text of the advertisement to the senate and took umbrage when Norris referred to the signers as "so-called" country editors, and replied that these country editors seemed to be "with Grundy" (the Pennsylvania high tariff man) and said he wanted an investigation to determine if they were bonafide.

Senator Schali, republican, Minnesota, arose after this discussion to say it was reported to him that 300 Minnesota papers were being bought by some concern but that he did not know whether the signers were the same noes.

The senate also found time to pass its first bill of the regular session, a $400,000 flood relief measure for New Mexico, authorizing a loan to destitute farmers of the Rio Grande Valley. The senate returned to consideration of the wool tariff schedules.

Meanwhile the house ways and means committee reported favorably on the Hawley Smoot bill to ratify the $4,025,000,000 French debt settlement with the United States with some opposition reported. The house also put finishing touches on the interior appropriations bill.

COOLIDGE SUGGESTED AS SPECIAL MASTER

Washington, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—Former President Coolidge, because of his legal knowledge, has been suggested as special master to investigate a state boundary dispute between New Jersey and Delaware which dates back almost three centuries in this country and even to the magna charta in England.

Assistant Attorney Menard of New Jersey, which is suing Delaware to establish its claim to a small section of that state, made the suggestion in supreme court yesterday.

OTHERS HURT IN ACCIDENT AT N. Y. STUDIO

EXPLOSIONS AND FIRE AT PATHE'S, NEAR PARK AVE. AND 130th STREET

STAGE JUST PREPARED FOR RECORDING FILM BY EDDIE ELKINS AND 14 MUSICIANS

New York, Dec 10—(UP)—Seven explosions in rapid succession swept the Pathe Company's sound film studio at Park Avenue and 130th street today killing nine persons and injuring others.

The explosion came just as a stage in a rear studio had been prepared for the recording of a film by Eddie Elkins and his 14 musicians.

In a room above 30 women of the ensemble were gathered, in their filmy and scant costumes, awaiting their call for a ballet.

Just as the recording was to begin there was a sudden flash—the first of the explosions. Those in the studio began to make for the exits but six more explosions followed in rapid order, cutting off escape for many.

The second explosion brought the first fatality. Then others took their toll.

Flames spurted from behind, around and through the big black velvet drop which had been set at the rear of the stage.

Of the dead five were men and four were women. These bodies were brought from the building and laid on the curb while ambulances and fire apparatus came screaming through the streets from all nearby stations.

At the Harlem hospital, where ambulances began taking the dead and injured, the names of five of the dead were given as:

Harold Bishop.
Al Kramer, Bronx.
Bob Mussman, Bronx.
Jack Quinn, Brooklyn.
Ernest Wilson, a bookkeeper.

The identifications, it was explained, were tentative.

Among the injured were William Mullarket, aged 45, New York burned on the left hand.

Four fire alarms were turned in and seven ambulances were sent with instructions to take the injured to the Reception, the Harlem and the Knickerbocker hospitals, which were the nearest emergency stations.

The studio is located beyond the point where Park avenue, home of the fashionable, fades into the Harlem district, home of the Negro. It is an old building which had been remodeled to accomodate the production of sound films. It was a two story brick structure.

The work being done today was to have been part of a sound musical comedy, featuring Hall.rpzD$I comedy, featuring Harry Delmar.

CHAPTER XXIX.

NATHALIE had fled back to her suite and locked herself behind the steel door which guarded the entrance to it when Ferris, who had not known that she had looked down and seen him, glanced warily to the top of the stairs where she had been and said to Stefano:

"Any objection to taking me into the dining room with you, Captain? I could do with a bite of breakfast."

"Absolutely not. Charmed to sit and chat with you a bit. "As I've said, I've learned the name of the lawyer you're so keen to know." Stefano was entirely ready to communicate Sloan's name. By the time Ferris saw Sloan, Sloan would be "in the know" through Monty Delaine, and Nathalie's interests entirely safe. Ferris could have the name and welcome—after he had paid Stefano ten thousand dollars for it.

"I heard you say it," Ferris informed him as he walked into the high ceilinged room into which Stefano directed him. He had the air of entire proprietorship and addressed Stefano's butler as though there was no question of the authority he had.

"Bacon and eggs, Niccolo. And make it snappy Wop. And then get your crew the hell out of here. But you stick around."

"I say what's this?" demanded Stefano sharply. "Who told you the man's name—or agreed that you could give him orders?"

Ferris looked at him craftily and then laughed in his face.

"He took them, didn't he? I guess that's the answer. Who do you think hand picked the crew that's been working for you?"

"And there they go out. On their way."

"So now I guess we can get down to talking business," observed Ferris, while the butler, who had brought his breakfast, walked to the end of the room but didn't go out of it. "You've found out a lawyer's name. And I'm to slip you ten grand for it. Is that the play as you figure it's coming off?"

"To a hair," replied Stefano, and looked him quietly between the eyes. "You're to pay it and I'm to receive it. When I tell you the lawyer's name, but not before."

Ferris looked at him with hate.

"But you threw a wine party last night, didn't you? Is that supposed to go into the expense account?"

"Certainly not. That was a friend's generosity. Every bottle of it gratis. No, that won't be tabulated in the account."

"I'm glad to hear it," retorted Ferris calmly. "So your friend's generous is he? He didn't size up like a very big hearted guy to me. But I guess as a business man he knows his onions."

"Who the devil are you talking about?" demanded Stefano, wondering suddenly if Ferris knew Monty was the donor of the champagne.

"Pound. I ain't wrong, am I? I guess I know when I've been sold out and double crossed. What about it?"

"Pound?" and Stefano looked at him disgustedly and wearily, "I never saw Pound but once. The day I signed a lease with him. Yes I did, too. Once afterward when I spoke to him about an account with his bank for a friend. Notice, don't you, that I don't regard you as worth lying to?"

"Yes," Ferris answered imperturbably. "I notice every little thing. My clockers watched you go in and out that day."

"Oh I dare say. But not that I care a curse." Stefano's tone was careless and taunting for he was losing patience very fast. "Who else did they see there who was specially interesting?"

Ferris sat gazing at him briefly, his eyes hard as flints. Then he said:

"She's upstairs!"

"Who's upstairs?"

Stefano's taunting manner did not change as he put the question. But as he spoke all interest left him concerning the ten thousand dollars he had hoped to receive, both hands into the pockets of his motor coat.

"Keep 'em where they are, Captain," said Ferris, shakily. "I'm on my way out. And listen. I give you credit for something. You were a clever fella when you had the steel door put in and didn't slip me no duplicate key. I ought to have suspected then that you was going to sell out to Pound but I was dumb. I think I'll take a walk over to Brookville. So long."

As he left, Stefano saw the eyes of Niccolo, the spurious butler,

"Keep them where they are, Captain—I'm on my way out," said Ferris.

and he thought only of Nathalie.

When Ferris spoke again he resolved that, come what might, he would not leave the house while Ferris was in it or until he was certain beyond peradventure that Nathalie was securely out of it.

"Who's upstairs did you say Captain?" said Ferris presently, his eyes drilling Stefano's hard. "So you want the name and all eh? All right. Nathalie Van Slaick's upstairs."

"Sure of it?" asked Stefano, as though it was of no importance."

"Dead sure," announced Ferris. "I suppose you'd like it if I took a walk up."

"I fancy it'd be just as well not for you to attempt to," Stefano answered him at once; "I'm certain it wouldn't in point of fact."

He meant only that if Ferris made any attempt to force himself on Nathalie he would leap at him and beat him to the floor. But Ferris misunderstood all men like Stefano. He nodded:

"That's good enough for me. I ain't trying it after last night. But I seen her with the make up off even if I did nearly eat a bullet."

This meant nothing at all to Stefano. He had no idea in the world that anyone had watched Nathalie from a tree and that she had been courageous enough to shoot at him.

He got up hurriedly as Stefano leaned back in his chair and put answer the eyes of Ferris in a secret signal and it dawned on him that Niccolo was was still in the long room was on guard over him and certainly armed. Niccolo's hands were in easy sight with nothing in them, so Stefano said nothing to him until he saw Ferris reach the open door at the end of the hall and go out of the house. Then he said:

"Niccolo."

"Si, Signor."

"You were present one night," Stefano reminded him pleasantly, and in Italian, "right in this room when a lady was diverted as she watched me at target practise?"

"Si, Signor," acknowledged Niccolo, and remembered vividly the night Stefano had shot at a candle the full length of the house and snuffed it out. A shiver went through him.

"That same admirable weapon," Stefano assured him, "is in one of the pockets of my motor coat while we talk so agreeably. Which pocket, Niccolo?"

Stefano was not armed. But Niccolo made a gesture of despair and sat quietly in a chair with his hands on the arms of it and kept them there.

He did not alter their position for two hours. Nor did Stefano move at all until a sudden half-muffled commotion somewhere in the grounds surrounding The Firs caused him to spring to his feet.

Is It Your Problem —or Ours?

Suppose the Stock Fire Insurance companies had not fostered fire prevention.

What then would have been America's record of loss by fire? Frightful enough it is—in spite of the efforts of the Stock Fire Insurance companies, working through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its departments of Building Construction, Public Fire Protection, Engineering, the Arson Bureau, Underwriters' Laboratories, and other sources and avenues of activity.

The reduction of the fire waste or the loss of life by fire was not primarily an insurance problem. Insurance companies must charge for insurance on a basis sufficient to cover losses and operating expenses, regardless of how great the losses may be.

Therefore—viewing the situation from their selfish interests only—they need be no more concerned than are other industries in working toward a reduction of the fire waste.

For the Public Welfare

However, for the welfare of the country as a whole the 239 Stock Fire Insurance companies, members of the National Board, voluntarily undertook the task of heading up the forces opposed to the destruction of life and property by fire.

The results have been encouraging. People are building better. Obvious hazards are being removed. But there is pressing need for further improvement.

Future progress in this work depends largely upon the degree of co-operation extended by you and others in the use of available safety devices and measures, and in the elimination of the many known hazards which continue to threaten life and property.

Inquiries relating to this movement and to the various services provided for its extension are invited.

VOLUME 8 BRAINERD HIGH SCHOOL, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1929 Number 14

LEAGUE DIRECTS ALL ATHLETIC, DEBATE AND DECLAMATORY COMPETITION

Supt. W. C. Cobb has been selected to act as chairman of District 11, Region 2 by the Minnesota State High School League which is directing for the first time all athletic, debate and declamatory competition among state high schools. The state is divided into eight regions with several districts in each region.

The association represents a consolidation of three which previously sponsored these contests and has according to Secretary O. E. Smith of Anoka all but 26 of the eligible high schools in the state as members, one of which is, of course, the Brainerd high school which is interested in athletics and declamation.

No state champion in football has been determined as a result of this fall's competition but in several other sports, play is scheduled to result in naming of title winners. Basketball play now under way in many high schools, but not yet in Brainerd will continue until the state championship team is named in the annual tournament at the University of Minnesota.

Track and field participants will meet at the university June 7 in a state meet and provision is also made for golf, tennis, and swimming meets to determine the various sports championships. Declamation competition will go forward in oratorical, humorous and dramatic divisions, climaxing in a state contest at the university.

Other members of the district, over which Mr. Cobb presides are Aitkin, Backus, Crosby-Ironton, Little Falls, Menagha, Motley, Pine River, Riverton, Sebeka, Staples, Verndale and Wadena.

Commercial Club Plans Busy Schedule for '30

Due to the difficulties encountered while having a meeting after supper, and the possibilities of getting in the new high school in the near future, the Commercial Club held a short business meeting after school, Wednesday instead of in the evening.

Because of the advantages offered in the new building, a busy schedule was outlined for the remaining school year.

Membership will be strictly enforced and roll call will be taken at each meeting. Everyone desiring membership is asked to see the advisers at their earliest convenience so that they may be placed on the list.

Plans for a play to be given shortly after Christmas were discussed. Money obtained from the play will go towards placing a memorial in the commercial rooms.

The committee consisting of Amy Markham, Edmund Jernberg, Ray Paine, and Virginia Cook was appointed by the president to read over plays and submit the most appropriate at the next meeting.

A paper cutter will be presented to the new Commercial department by this year's club. Fay Rosina and Mildred Gustafson were appointed to take charge of the buying of the memorial.

By vote it was decided, as in the past, that the club would have the picture in the Annual.

New committees which will act for the next three months are: Program: Louise Clausen, chairman, Evelyn Fink and Margaret Vadnais. Entertainment: Betty Robertson, chairman, Mary Hawkins and Genevieve Jenkins.

Refreshment: Ardelle Persson, chairman, Yerda Magnuson and Helen Unterecker.

Before the club adjourned everyone was asked to think of some way to make extra money for the club and submit these ideas at the next meeting.

Attendance at Night School Grows Steadily

With Miss Emma Brattvet in charge of evening school at the city hall, attendance appears to be on the increase as the sessions continue. Fourteen persons have availed themselves of the opportunity to learn the English language to prepare for citizenship examinations. The average attendance each night is 12.

Four students are of Finnish extraction, two German, three Norwegian, three Swedish and two are Greeks. Their ages range from 16 to 55. There are 11 men and three women of the 14 enrolled, five already are citizens while nine are working toward their final papers.

In addition to the citizenship preparations, much interest is manifested in spelling. All students are expected to learn 300 words before next May. Time is also being given for scientific discussions. Such topics as radium, gold, coal, iron and steel, petroleum and gases in the air have been considered.

W. A. M. Johnstone has promised the night school class a journey through the court house with an explanation of each department. Social gatherings will be resumed when the use of the cooking room in the new school becomes a possibility.

SOCIAL CLUB TO VISIT COURT HOUSE TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Social Science club recently organized, will visit the Crow Wing county court house under the supervision of W. A. M. Johnstone, clerk of court. Mr. Johnstone, who is the custodian, will conduct the club members through the building and will explain the technicalities of court procedure as well as the work of county officials.

Members are requested by Adolph Erickson, president, to meet in the city hall assembly at 7:30 for a short business session before going to the court house.

Since the first meeting of the organization several members have become ineligible due to the fact that they did not maintain the necessary B average. Other seniors have been added to the list due to better scholarship than they manifested the first few weeks of school.

Alexandria Cage Squad Booked for January 24

Brainerd high school cage men will play the Alexandria high school basketball team there, Friday, January 24. The next day the boys will play St. Cloud Tech. The additional game at Alexandria, which is the result of recent negotiations, will make it possible for the Brainerdites to have one of the best trips of the season.

According to the agreements made between the two schools Alexandria will play here next year.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The sale of Christmas seals, having lasted all last week, is now over; and Miss Tornstrom is pleased with the result, the students having contributed much more this year than last year.

The sale ended Friday but the amount of money turned in has not been determined yet. Having such a worthy cause, let us hope the amount is a large one.

18 GIRLS PASS GREGG TRANSCRIPTION TESTS

Gregg Transcription tests have recently been given in the commercial department under the direction of Miss Anna Lord. Results obtained were extremely satisfactory since 18 students passed the tests with a grade of 95 or above. 95 is the passing mark.

Those who met the necessary requirements are: Doris Anderson, Della Bohmann, Hilda Dybvik, Lorraine Enemark, Alice Engel, Evelyn Fink, Edith Frost, Mildred Gustafson, Alice Kyallquist, Yerda Magnuson, Elma Niemi, Selma Nygaard, Ardelle Persson, Norma Peterson, Betty Robertson, Lilian Turner and Hattie Zawalski.

These transcription tests are of much value for office production depends largely upon the efficient transcription of notes, and only the student who develops a high degree of skill in transcription has completed the whole stenographic job.

GRID SCHEDULE BEING FRAMED

For the 1930 campaign of Coach Kasch's football charges the following games have been booked: Wadena on September 28, at Bemidji October 4 and at Crosby on Armistice Day.

Other dates not yet arranged but no doubt will also be on card are with Milaca, Staples, Little Falls and Aitkin.

Nine lettermen will be available for next season which point to bright prospects. They are Captain Garvey, Moe, Luken, Cass, Foster, Gabiou, Marshall, Schuety and Edstrom. Others who did not make letters but will be valuable are Hogan, Wyett, Severtson, McPherson and Mayo.

CONTESTS TO REDUCE NUMBER OF ORATORS

The tryouts of January 8, 9, and 10. for dramatics, humorous, and oratory contestants respectively, are held for the purpose of reducing the present large number of contestants, so that intensive coaching of the eight best in each group may be done. About Jan. 25 the program of orations will be presented to the public in the auditorium of the new high school. The dramatic group of six and eight will give their readings about January 31, and by February 7 the contestants of the humorous section will be ready for their public performance.

Local residents will be asked to serve as judges to select, in each section, the one best fitted to represent Brainerd high school in the sub-district contest.

An admission charge will be made for each of the three local programs. The funds will be used to pay for readings and orations purchased and to help buy equipment to be used for speech labroatory work.

B. H. S. REINSTATED AS ACCREDITED SCHOOL

The Brainerd high school used to belong to the North Central Association of secondary schools, but was dropped several years ago because the building was inadequate. Now that the new building is to be all and more than people dreamed, Brainerd is applying for re-instatement. To do this the state department of education has to be satisfied that everything in regard to the school and its administration meets the qualifications set up by the association. Lengthy reports with endless details as to subjects taught, number of students, colleges attended by the faculty and much else have been compiled and sent in.

Students who belong to a qualified school are exempt from college entrance examinations in all colleges and universities in this part of the United States and are accepted in colleges in other parts of the country. So readmission is a matter of great importance.

Eight Initiated Into Hi-Y Club Wednesday

Amid blindfolds, paddles, and strange smells, eight new members of the Senior Hi-Y were initiated last Wednesday night. Some of the results of the ordeal may yet be seen on the faces of several "new" boys.

The new members are Arthur Lemire, Robert Hanson, John Lind, Harry Osell, Nathan Schuety, Leo Turcotte, Arthur Hedlund and Ray Paine. Edman Jernberg is yet to be initiated.

Wednesday night the ritual will be given to the initiates. All new boys are urged to be present, as this degree is absolutely necessary to belong to the Hi-Y.

The treasurer has on hand a number of Hi-Y pins and in order to obtain one, money must be brought Wednesday night. All pencil money must be turned in at the same time.

The refreshment committee promises a very delicious supper at 6 P. M.

SOPHOMORES COMPLETE PROJECTS FOR BIOLOGY

By MARGARET CASEY

Miss Farrankop's biology classes handed in some very good projects during the last six weeks. The students had a choice of working out their projects about either birds or mammals, but the largest number of projects handed in were about birds. Lillie Larson handed in the best featured booklet on mammals while Thora Nygard, Jean Lucas, Ethel Lyonais and Margaret Casey handed in the best booklets about birds. Among the few bird houses made the best belong to Gerald Lien and Ernest Erickson.

Miss Laipple's biology classes are working on projects for this six weeks. The students are able to work out their projects on any one class of animals under the vertebrate section. So far the best booklet handed in was about birds made by Barbara Zapffe.

JUNIORS PLAN CANDY SALE FOR THURSDAY

To hold a candy sale was the main consideration of the Junior meeting which was held at the City Hall Monday at 3:45. It was decided that the third year students hold the candy sale on Thursday, Dec. 12, and that Tuesday and Wednesday, the sale be advertised. A committee of five, Mary Hawkins, chairman, Arline Hagberg, Elizabeth Ervine, John Linn and Carl Holvick were selected to give out slips to the Juniors telling what kind and how much candy to give.

'ISADORE'S SURPRISE' TO BE PRESENTED SOON

French and English departments in the Brainerd high school are contemplating the presentation of the comedy "Isadore's Surprise." Miss Taylor will have charge of the French production in which all characters will speak the language of France, while the Misses Mathis and Walkup will coach the English production.

This play, which is a very amusing comedy in two acts is concerned with mistaken identity and insanity. There are five characters, including the famous Isadore, around whom the action revolves. The play is to be presented some time in February or March and tryouts for parts will be held later.

French Club to Meet at City Hall Tomorrow

The next meeting of the French club will be held Wednesday at 7:30 in the city hall. A lively time is promised and a short program will be given.

The French I class has been learning the French names of birds, beasts, and fish in preparation for the game which they are going to play. Other games will be played and refreshments will be served.

MRS. J. G. HEALD TO PAINT SCENE OF HISTORICAL EVENT

Mrs. J. G. Heald of Brainerd is to paint on canvas a scene of some event in the early history of Crow Wing county for the Senior memorial. This was decided by the members at a meeting held last Thursday afternoon at the City Hall. The memorial will be placed in the library of the new high school.

Here is some news that the Seniors hope the subs will welcome. All Sub-Seniors may from now on enter into class activities if they intend to graduate this year and dues of two dollars must be paid by them. This was agree to by a large majority of the class. Sub seniors upon payment of these dues may attend the banquet.

The annual Senior banquet will be held Wednesday, December 18 at the First Presbyterian church. One dollar dues must be paid before that time. Miss Tornstrom said: "It would be a peculiar banquet with only twenty there and it appears just now that not many more would be." Seniors PAY Your DUES!

Miss Tornstrom asked the class to cooperate with the faculty and others in the moving into the new building. It was agreed that each Senior would be willing to help when needed.

Debating Club to be Organized in January

On January 13 and 14 tryouts will be held for membership in a debating club. Five debating propositions are now posted in the assembly rooms of the Old Court House and the City Hall. For the tryout, one reason is to be stated for or against the idea of any one of the propositions. This reason is to be supported with evidence as effectively as can be done within the limits of two or three minutes.

This debating club is open to any high school student. Meetings will be devoted to analysis of a chosen question, to gathering and organizing evidences, and to practice in oral discussion of all possible aspects of the question.

It is hoped that, within the club, a team may be formed to represent each of the four high school classes. In late March or early April, the most capable teams will come to a spirited clash in the auditorium. The goal for this year is to develop enough perfection of technique to warrant issuing to a team of a rival school a challenge for a debate to be held about the last week in April.

Rightly understood, debating is the most interesting game in the world. Skill in genuine debating (not parrot-like memorization performance) is the first kind of preparation "for the most influential, practical participation in the argumentative and persuasive phases of life." Everywhere men and women have been and are influential in rather direst proportion to their ability to present and support their ideas. Even Abraham Lincoln, with all his noble qualities, certainly never would have been president of the United States had he not been a preminently keen debater.

Viscount Morley, Chancellor of Victoria university, asks, "What is an Educated Person?" He answers, 'I put at the very top this qualification: That any educated man or woman should know what is evidence, should know when a thing is proved and when it is not proved."

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM GIVEN BY BLUEBIRDS

As a special attraction a Christmas program was presented at the regular camp fire meeting Monday. The group decided to take care of a family of eight at Christmas time by providing food and clothing. The organization will meet next week at the home of Margaret Casey, instead of the usual place, to conduct a council fire. At this next meeting beads will be given for honors won.

After the business had been concluded several small third and fourth graders who constitute Evangeline Twist's and Margaret Casey's Bluebird group presented a Christmas program. Popcorn balls and candy were served to all.

(N. B. By the way, ask the members of the Brainonian Staff, who were working overtime Monday evening what they thought of the refreshments.)

English IV Calendar

BLOW OF VON PORAT WAS PALPABLY LOW AND HAD SPENT ITS FORCE

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 10—(UP)—Otto Von Porat of Norway, found loser on a foul in the second round of his bout with Phil Scott of England last night, was much closer to the heavyweight championship today than was his discredited opponent who left the ring with the boos and cat-calls of a record throng in Madison Square Garden ringing in his battered ears.

Scott, brushed by a long sweeping left while in full flight from Von Porat at the start of the second round, hesitated a moment and then flopped to his knees and rolled in the resin. The blow was palpably low, but its force had been spent, and Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, who was referring the widely advertised fight, felt certain it hadn't harmed the Englishman.

But Philip knows his fouls. He's been down before many a time and never failed to yell and writhe and claim victory by this obtuse method. He was successful last night, to the disgust of the crowd and everyone concerned, but he lost whatever modicum of prestige he may have enjoyed as a heavyweight contender. Von Porat ranks far ahead of him today in the quest for the title cast aside by Gene Tunney.

"My legs were paralyzed by the blow. I couldn't stand," Scott protested after he had been assisted to his dressing room. But the State Athletic Commission's doctors found no evidence that Philip had been injured in any way.

"There was nothing I could do except disqualify Von Porat," Jack Dempsey explained today. "I don't believe Scott was too badly hurt to continue, and I tried to make him fight, but the fact remains that Von Porat accidentally hit him below the belt."

"I've never lost a fight on a foul before, nor have I ever been warned for hitting low," was all Otto Von Porat had to say about the bit of bad luck which obviously deprived him of victory. He was winning at the time when the low blow landed. He had beaten Scott decisively in the first round.

The blow which ended the fight was the only one struck in the second round. Von Porat came out swinging both hands to start the second, and the tall Englishman who outweighed Otto, 204 1-2 to 198 1-2, began to backpedal rapidly. Scott was in full flight when a long left, reaching vainly from his body, sank from sheer lack of momentum and razed his trunks.

For a moment, it seemed as though Phil was undecided as to what to do. But he wasn't long in making up his mind. He sank writhing to the canvas in a well stimulated posture of distress.

In the semi-final of twelve rounds, Maxie Rosenbloom outslapped Yale Okum and advanced another dubious step towards the vacant light heavyweight title.

The paid attendanee was 16,912.

INDEPENDENT TEAM APPEALS TO BOARD

SCHOOL FATHERS RULE THAT INDEPENDENT CAGERS MUST WAIT UNTIL SCHOOL OPENS

Independent basketball games cannot be scheduled in the new high school gymnasium until after the school is occupied. So ruled the Brainerd Board of Education at its meeting last evening when the Russell Globe Trotters requested nights for practices and games.

The board will take up the matter of renting the gymnasium to independent teams late this month. Rental costs will be determined by the costs of heating, lighting, etc.

KNOCKS OVER "PALOOKA" IN SHORT ORDER

BELIEVED THAT MATCH WITH HACK WILSON MIGHT BE A DRAWING CARD

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 10—(UP)—Mr. Arthur Shires, who claims greatness in various lines of athletic endeavor, last night essayed to show his "public" that he is a pugilist.

If knocking over a "Palooka" entitled one to claim of 'greatn'ess" it must be admitted that he is the "Great Shires" which he himself claims to be.

It took the said Mr. Shires, who was making his debut as a professional pugilist, exactly 21 seconds to end a fight with one Dan Daly of Cleveland who had never been heard of before in these parts.

Shires, who plays a good game at first base for the Chicago White Sox achieved considerable reputation as an amateur pugilist last summer when he twice blacked the eyes of Lena Blackburne, his manager.

Shires came into the ring in a multi-colored bath robe which had printed on the back "Arthur the Great Shires." It must be said for Arthur that he came out fighting. He used nothing but left and right hooks and all of the hooks landed on Daly's jaw. There is no doubt about the fact that Daly was out. Both his eyes were black, his nose was red and his lips were cut when he left the ring in a "woozy" condition. But there also is no doubt about the fact that Shires stood to win when he went into the ring.

The great Arthur doesn't know a lot about fighting. He does know something about color and showmanship and that perhaps accounts for his filling the building where even good fighters have been unable to draw money-making crowds.

Puglistic interest here isn't as great as it was a year ago but the public will pay to see its heroes and that brings up the problem of "what would a match between Shires and Hack Wilson draw."

Wilson plays centerfield for the Chicago Cubs and he too has achieved somewhat of a reputation for puglistic ability.

But at any rate Shires is a puglistic drawing card here now. He probably will be handled carefully (that is he will stand to win any time he enters the ring) and it isn't at all unlikely that his boxing will get both he and the promoter Jim Mullen out of the "red" before it comes time for him to begin playing baseball again.

MELODRAMA AT SCHOOL BOARD

Board in Secret Session Considers Disciplining Two High School Boys for Breaking Things

U. S. MARSHAL ENTERS

Serves Papers Restraining Board Paying an Estimate of $30,777.24 to Contractors

"What Ho, The Marshal"

(A Melodrama In Three Acts)

Time of curtain, 8:15 p. m. Place, assembly room of the high school, second floor of city hall. Length of showing, 20 minutes. Throbbing action.

Act I

(Brainerd Board of Education in secret session deliberating on the disciplining of two high school boys for destruction of school property).

Very important looking individual appears in corridors of building bent on a hasty mission.

"Where is this board meeting?" he questions bystanders.

"In the room to the left but sorry it's a private meeting," some one replies.

Mysterious looking person's feet make much noice on marble floor. He strides to the secret conference room, thumps lustily on the door and opens it.

"Zounds, back you mortal," cry members of the board as the man steps into the room," this is a private conference and no one but members of the board, the faculty and witnesses are permitted to enter."

"More zounds to you," cries the intruder, "I am United States Marshal G. A. Peterson of St. Paul and I have business with you. I come to serve papers. Here, where's the president of this board?"

Members of board request important looking person to leave and present his papers at the regular business meeting.

"I am a U. S. Marshal and I go anywhere. I do not recognize private meetings," the intruder replies.

He pushes his way into the center of the gathering and with much dignity produces papers, presents them.

Members of board plead with him to leave as matters of private import are being discussed. Physical ejection is considered. Marshal stands his ground and meeting breaks up, board members very disgruntled and decrying such audacity on the part of one of Uncle Sam's servants.

Act II

Board members continue to harass visitor in hall. U. S. Marshal says he has done his duty and that he acted under instructions from superiors. Says he had perfect right to enter room. Board members tell marshal he will be reported for his impudence.

"I worry not about that," he replies.

Act III

Board in regular session listen to reading of papers. They constitute an order from the U. S. court at St. Paul restraining the school board from paying to Ed. Hirt and Son, general contractors in the construction of the new high school, an etsimate of $30,777.24. The plaintiff is the National Surety Co.

Board admits Hirt entitled to money specified but decide on no action in allowing estimate pending advice of attorney.

TWO BOYS, 8 AND 9 ROB OIL STATION

Boys Tell Authorities and Parents They Deserve Lickings

Parents of two youngsters, ages eight and nine years, assisted city authorities today in punishing the little boys after they had been caught redhanded by E. L. Beard, proprietor of the 'Oil Well," Seventh and Oak streets, taking money from the cash drawer in the oil station.

Mr. Beard said he lost $8 in one week, blaming the youngsters for the thefts. He said he suspected them and laid a trap. Leaving a small amount of change in the cash drawer, he stepped outside the station house to accomodate a customer. On his return he found the money gone. He accused the boys, one of whom ran home.

When questioned as to what punishment they deserved the boys replied they expected a whipping from their fathers. The mothers told city authorities that the boys would be punished and the money returned. The children will be placed on good behavior suspension.

Headquarters for CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Toys for the little boy and the big boy—dolls for girls of every age. And my, what a wonderful array there is! It seems like Santa Claus had moved his whole stock right into this store. He wants you all to see them, so plan to come soon.

In Our Fairyland of Toys

Are hundreds and hundreds of dolls and trains and animals and lots of other things sent from Santa's workshops at the North Pole—and before long the jolly old soul will be here himself. Meanwhile see the hundreds of things from his shops now on display.

Dolls Galore

What little girl could resist a doll that talks and walks — especially when it looks so like a real baby and is dressed in the height of fashion! Rosy cheeked girl-dolls in frilly and perky bonnets—with half socks and shiny black shoes—or cunning little boy dolls in rompers and jaunty little hats held in place by a rubber under the chin. Our assortment of baby dolls is very complete, and we have buggies to fit them all. Priced from 5c to $5.00.

Good Books

We use special care in the selection of our books. Our books for boys and girls are chosen to give them the best educational and entertaining reading matter. There are picture books galore for the little folks.

Mechanical Toys and Games

Things mechanical please boys and girls immensely—and here you will see many kinds at almost any price you want to pay. We have games very interesting for both young and old.

Skates, Skiis, Hockey Sticks, Sleds

Children all enjoy out-of-door life so why not give them some of these?

Chinaware, Glassware and Dinnerware

We have a wonderful assortment of useful gifts for the older folks.
